ESTHONIA'S POOR EAT LIKE NOBLES OF THE OLD RUSSIA

MUCH FOR LITTLE

30 American Cents in Reval
Buys Dinner Including
Scores of Items

(Note: The Soviet workingman labors hours for a piece of black bread, but in Esthonia, the poorest eat like nobles of old imperial Russia, according to H. R. Knickerbocker in the fifth article of his Baltic series.)

REVAL, ESTHONIA, May 17—(INS)—Thirty American cents in Reval buys today a huge platter each of cold turkey, roast beef, roast goose, roast duck, roast pork, smoked eel, pickles, and gallantime of veal.

It also buys platters of tongue in aspic jelly, herring, salmon loaf, stuffed fish, anchovy sandwiches, marinated eel, bacon, eggs and anchovies, stuffed eggs, pike and tomato sauce, ham loaf, green cheese, beets, baked ham, Italian salad and salmon loaf sandwiches.

In addition you get fried eggs on toast, onion salad, meat salad, pickled melon, game salad, pike and mayonnaise, salt sigi, liver loaf, eggs and marinated herring, herring in cream, pork roudades, caviar sandwiches with mayonnaise, eel sandwiches, caviar and onions, rollmops, fish and potato salads, fish-pastry, and stuffed cabbages.

The thirty cents buys all of the aforementioned forty-seven cold platters. Not one of them. All of them. But that is not all. The same thirty cents buys also a big hot pot each of stuffed cabbage roudades of veal, sausage and bacon, roast pork and cabbage, "komm morgen wieder," which is pastry stuffed with hamburger steak, roast hare, roast duck, herring and potato stew, and steaming hot dogs.

The thirty cents in question are thirty American cents vintage 1935. Before the dollar was depreciated you could get all this for 18 American cents.

There is no catch in this. This is the so-called "sexer table." In the restaurant Du Nord. The sexer table is Esthonian for the zakuska, the smorgasbord, the vorsepeise, the hors d'oeuvres. This is just what you eat before the meal. After you have finished this 30 cents worth you go on and have something to eat.

You can eat all you want of any dish on the sexer table and as many dishes as you like. Then you choose from a menu listing 81 dishes, ranging from partridges in cream to pancakes with caviar, and they cost an average of 25 American cents a monstrous portion.

This is something like old Russia used to be. This is what new Russia is not any more. Straight out of the pages of Tolstoy's "Anna Karenina" came that jovial plump fellow who is standing beneath the plume of lilac that nods above the sexer table. With one hand he holds a glass of vodka, while with the other he directs the waiter to one dish after another until his plate is towering with food.

Food is the primary element in the standard of living. In New Russia the food supply has been for eighteen years sometimes good, sometimes bad, sometimes catastrophic. Always it has been sufficiently uncertain, or sufficiently dear to make the food question the center of every family's concentrated interest.

In this bit of old Russia it is only the rich men who can spend thirty cents on the sexer table who get all they want to eat?

We visited Oskar Janberg, blacksmith in a metal factory, in his home at 45 Oskar street, before he went to work at 7 a. m. He and his wife had for breakfast this morning coffee, white bread and butter, anchovies and sausage. At 12.30 p. m. he lunched on a sandwich and tea, the tea furnished by the factory. Through work at 3 p. m. he dined at 3.30 p. m. on potato soup, roast fresh pork, marinated herring, rye bread and butter and cucumber salad. At 8 p. m. before going to bed they had tea, white bread and butter, sausage, cheese and cold roast pork.

We visited Rudolf Rant, nearby. Rant is an unskilled worker in the same metal factory. He and his wife and two children had for breakfast this morning coffee, white bread and butter, sausage and cheese; for dinner soup, boiled mutton, bread and butter; for supper tea, bread, butter, sausage and cheese.

We visited Johannes Norman, on Kolde street, mechanic in the railroad yards. He and his mother, his wife and daughter sat down today to a breakfast of coffee, white bread and black bread and butter, bacon, cheese and cold meat. At dinner they attacked cabbage soup rich with the ingredients that have made schtchi famous, fresh pork, pancakes with

Better Housing Progress In Bristol and Vicinity

The results of the Better Housing Canvass for Bristol and vicinity as reported to the headquarters office at South Langhorne, which is under the direct supervision of Mr. Horace J. Palmer, County Chairman, have been very gratifying, both as to the amount of work developed and the number of unemployed persons who have been re-employed either as project workers or on the work developed by these men.

Up to the present time there have been five men employed as enumerators in the Bristol territory. These men have made a house to house canvass and find that in the territory covered thus far, there is contemplated work amounting to approximately $6500.00. "This means that local tradesmen and workers will reap the benefit of the canvass now being made by the Better Housing Program," states Mr. Palmer.

HISTORICAL MEETING PLANNED AT ST. MARY'S

Sesqui-Centennial of N. J.
Diocese in Connection
With Anniversary

DURING THIS MONTH

BURLINGTON, N. J., May 17—Anniversary exercises are to be conducted by St. Mary's Episcopal Church this month, in connection with the celebration of the Sesqui-Centennial of the Diocese of New Jersey. St. Mary's is the first seat of Episcopal authority in America, it is stated.

St. Mary's part of the celebration program will be held here Saturday with an historical meeting in the old St. Mary's Church, West Broad and Wood streets.

An address will be given by General Sir Edward Midwinter, custodian of the archives of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel, of London, England.

General Sir Midwinter and Stacy Waddy, also of London, and secretary of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel, are the honored guests of the Episcopal Diocese of New Jersey during the celebration month.

Cannon Waddy will deliver a sermon at St. Mary's on Sunday morning. The Society for the Propagation of the Gospel is the great missionary society of the Church of England, and the Rev. John Talbot, M. A., first rector of St. Mary's Church, was a missionary of the society.

The services at St. Mary's are a feature of the pilgrimage through New Jersey during this week.

The clergy and congregations of the neighboring towns are invited to the services, and the offerings will be presented to the Venerable Society for the Propagation of the Gospel as a mark of appreciation for its fostering care of the New Jersey Episcopal churches during the Colonial period.

St. Mary's Church was the first seat of Episcopal authority in America and the original church building is one of the oldest houses of worship in America.

At the beginning of the 18th century the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel in Foreign Parts organized in London in 1701 and maintained 13 missionary preachers to promote the growth of the church in the colonies.

One of them was George Keith, a Scotch-Quaker, who, with his associate, John Talbot, began a missionary journey from Boston through the New England states and down the coast, arriving in Burlington on October 29, 1702. After preaching here for some time they began the movement to build the church in February of 1703. On March 25, 1703, the corner-stone for St. Mary's Church was laid.

LONELY WIFE IN U. S. AWAITS RETURN OF HER MATE, HELD AS A SPY

Mrs. Jacobson Tells the Story of Her Husband's Detention in Finnish Prison

By GERALD MARTIN
International News Service Correspondent
(Copyright, 1935, International News Service)

HOUGHTON, Mich., May 17—(INS)—Once each month Mrs. Arvid Jacobson receives a letter.

The missive contains little news, however, as it is strictly censored by Finnish authorities before it is allowed to pass into the mails. Still, as Mrs. Jacobson sits in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Hannula, at South Range, it brings the only contact with her husband, once a Michigan school teacher, who now is in jail in Abo, Finland, convicted of espionage.

Mrs. Jacobson ponders the fate that allowed her, to escape the governmental net in which they both were caught.

She and her husband, who is a graduate of the University of Michigan, were unjustly accused of being spies, she stoutly contends.

In the stolid manner of the Finnish settler of Upper Michigan, resigned to the five year wait before she can see her husband again, she disclosed her thoughts to International News Service today.

Close-mouthed, and with little to say on the subject because, in her opinion, the American press grossly distorted the facts of the case and "played dirt," she emphatically states that Jacobson is unjustly a prisoner.

"He was imprisoned unjustly," she says, "as the court which tried him promised him freedom if he confessed. He did confess but was not released, presumably because he was believed to be a radical."

She avers the only reason her husband now reposes in jail is that they have no funds with which to carry on a court fight for freedom.

Even from the letters she receives, she says, her husband does not, or can not, say whether his term might be cut short. Still she hopes.

Sincere in her belief he is innocent, Mrs. Jacobson has the support of the entire surrounding area. Everyone in South Range joins with her in terming the whole affair a "judicial miscarriage."

But in the year since his conviction, the village has ceased to buzz with talk of Jacobson's fate. In her quiet manner, Mrs. Jacobson, who lives simply, speaks little, and never voluntarily, of the case.

"There is nothing more to say," she states, "more has been said already than is necessary."

Asked if she would ever return to Finland, she remarks "not if I can help it. Why should I? I'm an American citizen, as is my husband. I shall remain in South Range."

Then, lapsing back into the past, she recalls the history of her predicament.

Jacobson was a mathematics teacher in Northville, Mich., for three years. He left there, telling the school board that a better position awaited him in New York.

In New York, according to Mrs. Jacobson, he received what he thought was a legitimate offer of a scholarship in the University of Helsinki, in Finland. Eager to continue his studies and to obtain a master's degree in mathematics, he leaped at the chance and embarked for Europe in 1932. In the spring of 1933, his wife joined him in Helsinki.

A raid by Finnish intelligence officers caught them in a net with 10 other persons at a house party attended by prominent folk. Helsinki police said they had information that those arrested had co-operated with a Finnish lieutenant who had fled the country, ostensibly because he had military information which he betrayed to Russia. They charged that Jacobson had formed connections with Russian secret police while living in America. He was held, but Mrs. Jacobson succeeded in establishing her innocence and was freed. A high court convicted him and imposed the six year term for espionage against the Finnish government.

Mrs. Jacobson, whose maiden name was Sally Hannula, formerly taught school in Monroe.

Now, her husband isolated nearly halfway around the world, she just sits and waits, silently protesting that they did not receive justice.

Finds Housekeeper Murdered

Philadelphia, May 17—Beaten and strangled and trussed upon a bed, the battered body of Mrs. Winifred Flannery, 60 year old housekeeper for a retired army officer today presented homicide squad detectives with a baffling murder mystery. The woman's body with hands and feet securely bound, was found with a pillow case stuffed into her mouth, by Major General John S. Morrison, retired. For eleven years the aged woman had been employed by the former officer.

Police expressed the theory an intruder killed the woman after forcing his way into the place, bent on plundering the well furnished, twelfth floor suite in an expensive apartment house. Two bits of evidence supported the police version, the woman's glasses, broken were found on the floor of the apartment, one plate of her false teeth also were on the floor while the other plate lay near the bed on which the body was found. Detectives learned Morrison left his apartment early yesterday and spent the day with a friend. It was upon his return last night that the retired officer stumbled upon the gruesome find.

Pattman Bill On Way To Veto

Washington, D. C., May 17—The Pattman bill to pay the soldiers' bonus with a new issue of currency, today was on its way to President Roosevelt and a certain veto. The bill was released from the Senate when Senator Thomas, Democrat of Oklahoma, leader of the bonus faction in the Senate, withdrew his motion to reconsider the vote by which the bill was passed. The motion was partly a skeptical one made to delay the measure's presentation at the White House. Supporters of the bonus abandoned all strategy temporarily after the bill was released and started a last minute drive to muster Senate strength to over-ride a presidential objection. A two-thirds majority is necessary to do this. Such a majority is almost certain in the House. Administration leaders in the Senate predicted the bonusites would fail to over-ride the veto by four or five votes. President Roosevelt has already prepared his veto message and, in the words of his secretary, Stephen T. Early, "hopes the Senate will sustain it."

marmalade, and before going to bed they toyed with tea and milk, white bread, butter and cheese. The family drinks three quarts of milk a day.

Finally we visited a very poor woman at 4 Sitsi street, Lena Letto, widow, whose unmarried daughter works in the spinning mill. They had for breakfast coffee white bread and butter and cheese; for dinner and supper together they had cabbage soup and salt pork, bread and butter.

Janberg earns 80 kronen ($21.60) a month. Rant earns 70 kronen, ($19.00) a month. Norman earns 100 kronen ($27) a month. Lena Letto's daughter earns 45 kronen ($12) a month. These wages are a good picture of the Esthonia scale.

From the opulent Norman to the impoverished Lena Letto all these families ate much better than the families we visited in Moscow. They were far better clothed.

They lived in very much better rooms and had more space. Janberg and wife had two rooms. Rant's family of four had two rooms, kitchen and bathroom. Lena Letto had only one room, but there were only two members of the family. The Moscow statistical average is about 4 persons to the room.

These people were not hand-picked. We saw them all with a socialist who wanted to show us the average. They all read newspapers, go to the movies, seem to be enjoying themselves.

Poorer paid workers in Reval are the girls in the spinning mill. We visited it. They stand all day long and perform the same unending, monotonous motion until the sight of it makes a spectator dizzy. They have an unenviable job. So do textile workers in the Soviet Union.

Girls in the Reval mill work 8 hours for an average of 50 kronen a month. Girls in the Melange mill we visited in Ivanovo-Voznesensk in Russia work 7 hours a day for an average of 150 roubles a month. This is also the statistical average wage of all Soviet industrial workers.

Careful calculation shows that the 50 Esthonian kronen have a purchasing power just about the same as the Russian 150 roubles. Real wages of the poorest Esthonian workers seem to be about the same as the real wages of the average Soviet worker.

At that a Reval mill girl on a holiday could spend the product of five hours' work and have her choice of forty-seven cold platters and eight hot pots. But the highest paid man in the Soviet Union could search new Russia from Vladivostok to Minsk and search in vain for a sexier table.

Greatest Circus Coming This Way

Offering its millions of patrons the largest and best program in its brilliant annals, the mighty Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Combined Circus, is scheduled to exhibit in Philadelphia, Wednesday, May 27, and on that date the world's largest big top will be filled with sensational new features from all over the globe, including the topmost acrobatic acts of every European nation, except Denmark.

The Greatest Show on Earth will arrive on four long, railroad trains of double-length steel cars, carrying 1600 people, seven herds of elephants, 1009 menagerie animals and 700 horses, to say nothing of 31 great tents and countless tons of rigging, grandstands, properties and paraphernalia.

Fat Folks Read This SHE REDUCED 14 LBS. IN 3 WEEKS

Paid No Attention To Envious Gossipers

Mrs. J. H. Valentine of Freeport, N. Y., writes: "I lost 14 lbs. with Kruschen and my husband took off 12 lbs. in 3 weeks and intends keeping up the good work. I think Kruschen is simply wonderful."

Intelligent folks like Mr. and Mrs. Valentine don't listen to gossiping folks who tell them it's impossible to reduce safely.

Kruschen Salts is one safe reducing treatment—it's a health treatment—physicians prescribe it—just take a half teaspoonful in a cup of hot water first thing every morning—tastes fine with juice of half lemon added—a jar lasts 4 weeks and costs but a few cents. For sale by Victor Stores Co. or any drug store.—(Advertisement.)

New European troupes are the Walkmirs, Antaleks, Romeos, Maschinos, Poliss, Buemrangs, Dementatis, Willos, Lauries, and Torrence-Dolores—sensational aerial and acrobatic novelty offerings. The largest aerial ballet ever produced, led by the Lydia, the Rooney, the Annetta and Neleta troupes, and the largest liberty horse act ever seen are new thrills from abroad.

Mile. Gillette, who leaps from the dome of the big top; the Otaris, who fly in masses from an aerial cross; the two Wallenda troupes in new hair-raising high wire feats; Dorothy Herbert, riding reinless hurdling horses over fire jumps; the great Con Coleman, forward somersaulting star of the tight wire; the largest acrobatic display ever seen, with the Yacopis, the Danwills, the Uyenos, the Yom Kams, the Dementatis, the Hadjis and Hassans; the celebrated Loyal-Repenskis, the famed Riedenachs and the great Walters, bareback riding stars; the two Galice Troupes of comedy aerial flyers on the lofty bars; the Flying Cancellors, with Antoinette, only girl ever to accomplish a two-and-a-half somersault to hand-to-hand catch; the famed Flying Comets; Hugo and

Mario, who are fired in a split second from the mouth of a giant cannon across the upper reaches of the big top—these are but a few of the pre-eminent artists among the 800 performers with The Greatest Show on Earth—Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey.

Still another feature is Col. Tim McCoy, the screen's most outstanding western star, at the head of his congress of rough riders of the world—cowboys, cowgirls, Cossacks, Mexican vaqueros, Australian bushrangers and Plains Indians. Col. McCoy, scout, soldier and friend of the Indian, idol of American youth, will also present his Indian Village in the center of the vast menagerie oval.

HULMEVILLE

A visit was paid on Sunday by Mr. and Mrs. William Wheeler and children Ethel and Cheston, and Mr. and Mrs. William Walton to Mr. Walton's sister, Mrs. Fred Brown, Salem, N. J. Mr. Walton is recovering from an injury to his foot, sustained when a roller fell upon it at his place of employment several days ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Davis have changed their place of residence from Lincoln avenue to the bungalow on Main street recently vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thorpe, Jr.

A card party conducted by Mr. and Mrs. William Walton at their home on Wednesday evening, benefitted the Shepherds of Bethlehem Home in Hadonfield, N. J., and was sponsored by the red team of Shepherds Delight Lodge, Bristol. Eleven tables were filled by pinocle players; and there were 18 "radio" devotees, and nine non-players. A total of 36 prizes were awarded. Refreshments were served to the gathering.

CHURCHVILLE

After five days of illness, James Martin Cornell, 17, son of Mrs. Helen J. Lowmes Cornell, Churchville, passed away. Services were held in the Churchville Church on Monday and were conducted by the Rev. Daniel Y. Brink, pastor. James was a member of the Senior Class, Southampton high school. The entire school attended the services in a body, and classmates Robert Hayes, Emil Perse, John Kershner, George Settle, George Robinson and Philip Carlin were pall-bearers, with Richard Young and Everett Walters, honorary bearers. The deceased was a member and enthusiastic worker in the Churchville Reformed Church, Sunday School, Intermediate Christian Endeavor, and Boy Scouts, having obtained three recognitions from the Boy Scouts. He was custodian of supplies for the Sunday School and had an unbroken attendance record for 12 years. He was manager of the school baseball team and active in other student activities.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Benson are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son, Ralph Wesley, Jr.

Miss Helen Wilson, Miss Alice Barcalow, Frank Achuff, Linley Roberts and Russell Reiner, Churchville, with other members of the Senior Class of the Richboro high school enjoyed a trip to Washington, D. C. They left by bus six o'clock Monday morning from Richboro and returned Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Woolson entertained the players of the St. John's ball team and friends at a "doggie" roast, Saturday evening. There were about 45 present.

Mr. and Mrs. William Daniels visited Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bice, Hahoro, Saturday evening.

New President Presides At School Ass'n Meeting

EDGELY, May 17—The regular meeting of Edgely School Association was held last evening at the school building. President Ralph Linck opened the meeting. A short passage of Scripture was read by Walter Miller and minutes were read by the secretary, Mrs. William O'Dea. Financial secretary's report was given by Mrs. J. Evans. The meeting was then turned over to the newly-elected president, Mrs. William O'Dea.

It has been the custom for several years for the association to entertain all the children at the end of the school term. This year they will be taken on May 27th to Penn Valley Park on a picnic, the teachers of the school co-operating with the association.

The association this year will present to the girl and boy of the graduating class with the highest averages, a gift at graduation. This is an incentive to those in their last year at Edgely school.

The Difference Between Simmering and Boiling Water Is Explained

Not so long ago a puzzled homemaker asked me the simmering and boiling temperatures of water, and today I shall try to take care of her question. Water simmers at a temperature of 185 degrees F., and boils at 212 degrees F. It matters not whether water boils rapidly or slowly, it has the same temperature and, therefore, does the same work. Once water has started boiling, it is not necessary to keep the flame on full, and the practice can hardly be called an economical one, especially in these days of enforced economy when we must watch the little leakages. So, when water has started to boil, it is well to remember to turn down the heat to a degree which will continue to cook the food at a temperature called for in the recipe. This may seem like a trivial item, but in the course of a month's time, you will find, if practiced, it will amount to a neat little saving in fuel cost.

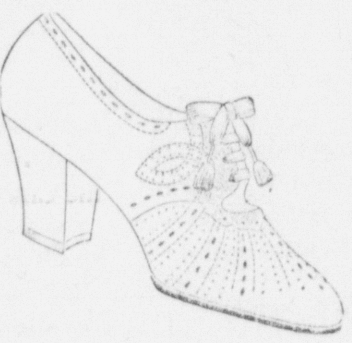

Suppose today we plan menus for the week-end.

NEWPORTVILLE FAILS TO SHAKE OFF THE OLD JINX

The losing streak is still trailing the Newportville A. A. club. For the fifth consecutive time, the Newporters finished on the short end of the final score, although they played the kind of ball that usually wins a ball game. But the fact last night was that the winning club's pitcher was too much for the Newporters.

By the score of 4-1, the Hibernians were the victorious team on Leedom's team as "Fatty" Lyzeak did not allow the Newportville hitters a single safety. He would have had a no-run, no-hit game had not his brother, "Zigzag," made a wild throw to third base in an attempt to get a base-runner off the bag.

The Hibs made six safe blows and bunched three of these intermingled with two walks and a hit batsman scored three times. The final tally came in the sixth on a walk to Leigh, Dougherty's sacrifice, and Riemer's wild throw of McGinley's grounder.

The Newportville tally was pushed across in the fourth. After Riemer was called out on strikes, Cameron worked Lyzeak for a pass. Cameron went to second on a passed ball. Clifton bounced out to Harrison. Cameron going to third. Ritter was passed. Ritter went to second unmolested but Z. Lyzeak faked a throw to that bag but instead threw high to third, Cameron scoring.

PORTLAND, Me. (INS) — The dazzling of a $250 diamond on the finger of Mrs. Chester W. Bennett didn't agree with a con cat as his mistress was coming out a tangled part of the animal's fur. It snapped at her, closing its teeth on the setting in a ring. The cat swallowed the diamond but it was recovered.

Omaha Is Looking at You

Howdy, folks! I'm Omaha, and this is my jockey, Willie Saunders. As you know, I won the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness and before I'm through I'll convince the world that I'm a worthy son of a great father, Gallant Fox. I'm stabled at Belmont Park, L. I., for a while.

DELAWARE RIVER CIRCUIT TEAMS PLAY TOMORROW

Two Delaware River League games are scheduled for this vicinity tomorrow. On Leedom's field, Johnny Mulholland's Bristol A. A. team will battle the undefeated Hulmeville club, while at Edgely, Fred Hibbs' boys will cross bats with the Morrisville Tigers. The Hibernians will travel to Washington Crossing and Dolington plays at Lambertville.

Dolington will be seen in action for the first time by the Bristol fans on Sunday when the up-county team comes to Leedom's field, pitted against the Hibernians. Edgely will play Hulmeville at Hulmeville, while Lambertville plays at Washington Crossing and Bristol A. A. meets Morrisville on the Morrisville field.

Dolington is giving the Edgely and Hulmeville teams a close race for the first half honors and if it wins both games over the week-end will be sure to gain ground as the Braves and Hulmeville are matched with each other for Sunday.

Games are scheduled to begin at three o'clock sharp.

SHE'S FRANCE'S OLDEST

PARIS — (INS) — The oldest woman in France is 107. After a countrywide search conducted by a newspaper it was determined the distinction belongs to Mme. Voignard of Cars, near Blaye. She is in good health and lives with her two daughters—aged 84 and 89. Madame Voignard boasts that she has never put water in her wine and even enjoys a dash of wine in her soup, country fashion.

FIRM BELIEVER

CLEVELAND — (INS) — You'd think once was enough, but—When Police Sergeant Charles McWilliams went to the home of Mrs. Mary Kravick to question her about the gypsies who stole $900 from her while reading her fortune he found the woman was not at home. She had gone to another fortune teller to "have some tea leaves read," her husband said.

STROMP'S HURLING TOO MUCH FOR EDGELY

Ralph Stromp hurled another wonderful exhibition of baseball last night on the Edgely diamond as the Edgely Braves dropped their second ball game of the season. Final tabulations were: Bristol A. A. 3; Edgely Braves, 1. The Braves were held to three hits by Stromp.

Manager Hibbs, of the Braves, sent his ace "Jackie" Prall to the mound in an effort to redeem the club from its Hulmeville defeat but Prall lost control in the third and three markers crossed the plate. Four of the Bristol six bingles were made in this frame and in the fourth and fifth when Prall regained his poise, the A. A. failed to hit safely.

Stromp, likewise, started the fireworks on Prall. He opened the third with a rousing double to left. Pieo was safe on a fielder's choice and Oppman was given a free ticket to first, filling the sacks. Heftman's single scored two while Purcell sent Oppman over with a safe blow.

Edgely had scored in the second when Mondo singled to right and crossed the plate on L. Hibbs' hard double to left field.

Seven Years Ago Today—

Although outbit, 10-3, the Leedom's nine trimmed the Hibernians, 5-3, on St. Ann's field in a Bristol Twilight League tilt. Four errors made by the Hibs proved disastrous as the winners scored four times in the fourth. Arthur Brooks hurled for the winning aggregation with Elmer White as his battery mate. Lawler was the losing twirler.

SILENT NIGHT WON

NEWTON, Mass. — (INS) — Radio melodies will not float across the Charles River this Summer. Police banned radios in cities and towns along its course after cities voted against loudspeakers after midnight. A canoe-renting company had planned to equip many of its craft with radios.
